Datacore Certified Master Engineer Chris Anderson

Exciting News We are proud to share that Chris Anderson has achieved the prestigious status of Datacore Certified Master Engineer (DCME)!

Chris has demonstrated exceptional knowledge and skills in DataCore Software technologies, having completed rigorous training and met stringent requirements. How could this benefit you?

- Enhanced quality

With Chris's advanced expertise, we can offer more reliable and optimised storage solutions, ensuring higher availability and performance for your needs.

- Innovative Solutions

Access to the latest Datacore technologies and insights allows us to implement cutting-edge solutions, providing you with the most up to date and efficient storage systems.

- Increased trust and confidence

You can have greater confidence in our solutions, knowing that we have highly certified professionals who can handle complex storage challenges and deliver exceptional results. There are only two DCME in the UK, the other being Simon Birbeck, another member of the Waterstons team!
